TO SERVE AS HE SERVED, TO LIVE AS HE LIVED, AND TO LOVE AS HE LOVED.

The Canonization of Mother Teresa On September 4, 2016 In Rome

"MOTHER TERESA: SAINT OF LIGHT, SAINT OF DARKNESS"

Like so many others around the world, I was overjoyed to hear of the recent decision of the Vatican to canonize Mother Teresa, a woman generally recognized, during her lifetime, to be a "living saint."

Mother Teresa first came to my attention through Malcolm Muggeridge's film and attendant book "Something Beautiful for God." Of course Muggeridge showed Mother's work with the dying and the poorest of the poor on the streets of Kolkata, but what moved me the most were the images of the saint's smile amid so much squalor and suffering. She was a very bright light shining in exceptionally thick darkness. [...]

Further, for decades, she personally reached out to the most vulnerable in one of the worst slums in the world and sent her sisters to some of the most disagreeable places on the planet. Most of us, I imagine, manage to love to a degree, but few ever express this theological virtue more dramatically and radically than she did. This is not simply admirable, it constitutes a crucial witness to the nature of love.

Unlike the other virtues, both natural and theological, love has no limit. Justice, limitlessly expressed, excludes all mercy; too much temperance becomes a fussy puritanism; exaggerated courage is rashness; unlimited faith is credulity; infinite hope devolves into presumption. But there can never be too much love; there is never a time when love is inappropriate, for love is what God is, and love constitutes the very life of heaven.[...]

A second feature of Mother's holiness is her dedication to prayer. When I visited the Mother House of the Missionaries of Charity in Kolkata some years ago, what impressed me most was a life-size statue of Mother Teresa in the very back of the chapel, in the attitude she customarily assumed when she prayed: legs folded under her, palms facing upward, head bowed. From the very beginning of her community, Mother insisted that her sisters should engage in substantial amounts of prayer every day; in time, she established a branch of her order dedicated exclusively to contemplative prayer.

She understood something that is essential to the Christian spiritual life, namely, that the kind of love she and her sisters endeavored to practice could come only through the grace of God, only as a sheer gift.

To get that gift, it was necessary to ask, to ask again, to beg one's whole life long. Without this explicit connection to God and his purposes, their work, she knew, would turn into mere do-goodism, and the egos of her sisters would inevitably assert themselves. Saints, those who embody the love that God is, are necessarily beggars. I remarked above that Mother Teresa struck me as a light in the shadows. How mysterious, therefore, that she herself once said, "If I ever become a saint, I will surely be a saint of darkness." She was referring to something that only a handful of people knew in her lifetime, that for upwards of 50 years, Mother Teresa experienced the pain of the absence of God. The living saint often felt abandoned by God or even that God does not exist.

Once a visiting bishop was kneeling in prayer before the Blessed Sacrament with Mother and her nuns. A note was passed to him from the saintly foundress, which read, to his infinite surprise, "Where is Jesus?" That she lived through this crucible for decades, even as people routinely saw her as the very paragon of holiness, shows forth a third dimension of her saintliness. To be a saint is to allow Christ to live his life in you. Indeed, St. Paul said, "It is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me," and this means the whole Christ.

Jesus was a person of service to the poor and needy, and Mother certainly embodied this aspect of his life; Jesus was a person who prayed intently and for long periods of time, and Mother participated in this dimension of his existence. But Jesus was also the crucified Lord, who said, at the limit of his suffering, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

To allow Christ to live his life in you is, therefore, necessarily to experience, to one degree or another, the absence of God, to undergo the agony of the crucifixion in all of its dimensions. St. John of the Cross, the greatest mystical theologian in the church's history, said, quite simply, that there is no path to holiness that does not lead through the cross. Though it is a high paradox, the 50-year darkness that Mother endured is, therefore, one of the surest indicators of her saintliness.

Saints exist for the church, for in them we see the very raison d'être of the church, and this is why canonizations are always joyful affairs. So let us rejoice in this new saint whose love, prayer and very darkness, are light for us.

FOLLOWING OUR FAITH + ROZWAZNIA

INVITED

The Good News is that we have all been invited—invited to the Kingdom, invited to be disciples. It's a life-changing invitation, and like so many other such invitations, it requires a great deal of deliberation and discernment. Whether we choose marriage, ordination, single life, or community life, we know the serious planning and consideration that accompany these profound decisions. Like the tower-builder in the Gospel, we have weighed both the monetary and emotional cost. We have pondered and planned our lives in the direction to which we believe God has called us. And while we pray for guidance and acceptance of God's will, we often fail to understand so much. Like Solomon, we turn to God for wisdom and counsel in our life-changing decisions.

JUBILEE YEAR OF MERCY

September 4, 2016

Twenty-third Sunday in Ordinary Time

"If anyone comes to me without hating . . . father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, and even his [or her] own life" (Luke 14:26). Hating? Can anyone imagine a less appropriate Gospel for the Jubilee Year of Mercy? But scholars call this Semitic hyperbole. Jesus exaggerates to jolt us into confronting life-changing challenges. Faced with conflicting loyalties, disciples must reorder priorities, even relationships, to give Jesus and the gospel's demands first place. Today's second reading presents a real-life example. Paul challenges his wealthy convert, Philemon, to welcome back Philemon's runaway slave, Onesimus, whom Paul has baptized in prison. Not only with unconditional forgiveness but with a counter-cultural, world-shattering change of status—as an equal. No, even more—a beloved brother in Christ. What in my life does the Jubilee Year of Mercy challenge me to "hate"—meaning reform, redo, even utterly revamp—so I can give everyone, no conditions, no exceptions, shockingly Christ-like love?

OREMUS

Nic w naszym życiu nie może konkurować z Panem Jezusem. Cokolwiek nas odciąga od Niego, winno się stać przedmiotem naszej nienawiści. Nie sposób być Jego uczniem, jeśli nie podejmie się radykalnej decyzji wyboru drogi krzyża i odrzucenia wszystkiego, co oddala nas od Jezusa. Ponieważ sami na taką wolność nie potrafimy się zdobyć, musimy prosić w modlitwie o dar Bożej mocy i mądrości z wysoka.

ks. Jarosław Januszewski, „Oremus” wrzesień 2007, s. 40

XXIII NIEDZIELA ZWYKŁA

Ewangelia tej niedzieli to wezwanie, aby zachowywać się roztropnie. Polega owa roztropność na opowiadaniu się za Jezusem bez żadnego „ale”. On ma być na pierwszym miejscu i basta. Wydaje się, że każdy chrześcijanin powinien często pytać samego siebie, czy rzeczywiście stawia Jezusa na pierwszym miejscu.

JUBILEUSZ MIŁOSIERDZIA

Szukać

Czasem do spotkania z Bożym miłosierdziem podążamy okrężną drogą. Być może czasami poszukujemy Jezusa, tak jak Zacheusz szukał sposobu zobaczenia Go, najprawdopodobniej z czystej ciekawości. W odpowiedzi Jezus miłosiernym spojrzeniem odszukał Zacheusza. ... Gdy Jezus przyszedł na to miejsce, spojrzał w górę i rzekł do niego: „Zacheuszu, zejdź prędko, albowiem dziś muszę się zatrzymać w twoim domu” (Łk 19, 5).

PARISH NEWS

The St. Monica Parish S.T.A.R.S (Special Times and Religious Studies) program would like to invite you to join our community.

The program's mission is to help people with developmental disabilities learn and grow in their love for God. This is accomplished with tremendous support from The Knights of Columbus, volunteer catechists and through the use of a simple lectionary based curriculum incorporating music and art. The students gather and make a craft based on Sunday's gospel reading. Then the students proceed into the chapel for prayer and music. After our prayer service, we gather together to "break bread" with each other by enjoying a small meal which is provided by the parents.

We meet about twice a month from September to May on Saturday mornings beginning at 11:30 a.m. & ending at 1:00 p.m. Our first meeting will be on September 24th in the Parish Office Building located at 5136 N. Nottingham in the Ministry Meeting Room. We are handicapped accessible and welcome ANYONE with a disability. We have a wide range of students between the ages of 7 - 30 years old at the present time.

If you are interested in joining or just want to find out more information, please contact Karen Knorr @ tchrkmk@sbcglobal.net or Karen @ 773-919-1592.

JUBILEE OF MERCY

SEEK

Sometimes our encounter with the mercy of God begins indirectly. We may be seeking something, just as Zacchaeus was seeking to see Jesus, perhaps only out of curiosity. In a turnaround, Jesus merciful glance seeks Zacchaeus. [Jesus] looked up and said to him, "Zacchaeus, hurry and come down; for I must stay at your house today." (Luke 19:5)
